Art Ward selected Highlander of the Year

Art Ward has been named Highlander of the year.

The announcement of the award was made at the annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce Wednesday. Coincidentally the meeting was being held in the resort on Lake Kashagawigamog which Art owns and manages, Wig-A-Mog Inn.

Gerry Dawson of Halibur-ton, a long time friend of the recipient made the presentation on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce. Dawson outlined Ward's contribution to tourism and tourism promotion in Haliburton and in all sectors of the industry across Canada.

He pointed out that when Ward was not undertaking projects in the county to benefit tourism, he was taking part in province-wide and nation-wide commissions and spreading the word about Haliburton.

A partial list of the tourist related activities Art Ward has been involved in during his time in Haliburton include:

-president of Resorts Ontario for three years.

Blanket closing of all Stanhope shore allowance not feasible: ministry

The Ontario Ministry of Housing has advised Stanhope Township Council that a by-law to close all shoreline allowance in the municipality at one time would not be feasible.

The information was contained in a letter from the ministry sent in response to a number of questions from the township's clerk-treasurer, Gerald Bain. The clerk had asked the ministry whether a blanket by-law, covering all shore allowances in the township could be passed without having the property surveyed. The response from the ministry indicated that an exact survey of all the land covered by the by-law and a legal definition of the land in question would be required before the ministry would approve such a by-law.

The ministry spokesman pointed out that a survey of such a magnitude would be very expensive, probably beyond the means of the township.

Stanhope has numerous lakes and rivers where the 66 foot shore allowance between the high water mark and the front edge of the private property exists. This land legally belongs to the Crown represented by the township. Recently cottagers and others whose property abut the 66 foot shore allowance have been seeking to purchase the allowance to secure their access to the water and ensure their privacy.

A spokesman for the Maple Lake Cottagers Association had approached the council earlier this year with the suggestion that a blanket by-law, covering all shore allowances in the township would save property owners a great deal of expense and confusion.

In addition to providing adequate surveys of the property in question, the township would also have to prove to the ministry that closing the shore allowances would not deny access to other property owners. In some cases the shore allowance is used as a road for such purposes.

It was pointed out that a by-law which would close all shore allowances would still not solve the problem of conveying that property to the abutting landowner, as many lakefront property owners would like. It is likely a second survey would be required before the land could actually be sold.

The reply from the Housing Ministry appears to have put a damper on any suggestion that the closing of the shore allowance in Stanhope can be carried out on a township-wide basis.

At the moment the township clerk says there are about 25 formal applications on file from property owners requesting to purchase the shore allowance in front of their property. In addition another 50 have inquired about the process at the municipal office.

The clerk said the township is waiting for the Ministry of Housing to comment on a county policy passed in May. The policy laid down the guidelines under which the county council would approve any closures and sale of shoreline allowance. The ministry has yet to respond to that policy.

MTC refuses light request

A request by property owners along Highway 121 just west of Highway 35 for street lights has been set aside for the moment by the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

The residents, located between the crest of the hill by the power dam to the entrance to Evergreen have been pressing the MTC and Anson, Hindon and Minden council for some time to have the lights installed. A letter in response to the request was read at the October 7 meeting of the council.

According to the spokesman for the MTC, reconstruction work is being planned for Highway 121 between Minden and Haliburton. The ministry felt that any request to add lighting along the highway should wait until the work is completed, which could be up to two years from now. The MTC also pointed out that steel posts should be used as light standards as they present less of a safety hazard if they should happen to be struck by vehicles. The ministry spokesman claimed that the existing hydro poles along the road would be unsuitable for the light fixtures.

The council agreed to organize a meeting of the residents of the area, members of council and representatives of the MTC to discuss the problem.

Until some plan of action is devised, the residents along that stretch of the highway are going to have to remain in the dark.

Boat flips man dies

A 72 year old man died as a result of a boating accident on Koshlong Lake in Glamorgan Township Wednesday (October 8) evening.

Dead is John Edward Carruthers of St. Catharines. The victim set out on the lake in a boat with his wife Eleanor and brother Hugh. Their destination was a cottage on Wallace Island and they intended to view the coloured leaves from the boat.

High winds started to wash water into the boat shortly after they left shore and the vessel capsized. The other two passengers in the boat were rescued by someone in the area with a boat.

The tragedy was investigated by Corporal P. Alexander and Constable Al Barnes.

The students of Mrs. Chamber's grade six class at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden raise ice cream cones in a salute to one of their classmates, Carole Lacey. Carole, front row centre, was the senior winner in The Times school bus safety contest. She won cones for all the students in her class and chicken dinner for everyone in her family compliments of Dixie Lee Chicken, Minden.

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

The Chamber's annual meeting at Wig-A-Mog was a success once again, and the air was full of enthusiasm for the coming year. An unprecedented 18 members ran for the 12 seats on the Board of Directors and, of these, 6 new directors were elected along with 6 who are returning. The Board will meet this week to establish their executive consisting of a President and Vice-President. John Hogg will now serve on the executive as a past president.

The unfortunate part of having an election is, of course, that someone must lose. All 18 of the individuals offering their names did so in the knowledge that if they won they would be rewarded only with a lot of work to do. The ones that were unsuccessful therefore must feel that they have offered their services and they were turned down. We do, however, hope to take advantage of their offers and those others who wish to assist, by involving them in committee work that will keep them somewhat involved and interested. Possibly next year some of them will once again allow their name to stand and they will have had the additional benefit of some involvement this year through this process.

It goes without saying that we are pleased and gratified by the number of people who come forward to run for the Board and we sincerely thank them all for their interest.

Congratulations are in order to Art Ward our 1980 "Highlander of the Year", and Glen Hodgson who was honoured with an Honorary Membership in the Chamber. They were both very deserving recipients and we hope in some small way these awards will give them both a feeling of accomplishment in return for their many efforts. We would also like to thank those that nominated recipients for these awards and would ask that you think of next year as another opportunity to do so.

New and progressing

The 3M Company provided us with a few stickers that read, "We hear there is going to be a recession -- but we've decided not to participate." We think that's a good motto for Haliburton County and from the looks of some of the development taking place it may be quite appropriate.

We were honoured this week to be asked to take part in the opening of the new plant of the Wilberforce Veneer and Lumber Co. Ltd. at Wilberforce. This, it was announced, is only phase 1 of a planned expansion program which involves 2 more substantial phases. To see our natural resources being utilized within the County, rather than being shipped to manufacturing plants outside in their raw state, is certainly a trend we hope continues. We will certainly do anything we can towards this end.

Also in Wilberforce we have new owners at the restaurant formerly known as "Legge's Place." It is now called Sprucewood Restaurant and is owned by Frank and Georgia Phillips who moved here from Toronto. They have made many improvements to the building, offer a menu of good home-cooked food and are open every day but Monday, from 7:30 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. We hope they do well and suggest you drop in and let them know they're welcome.

Somewhat South of there, just off the Dyno Road is The Homestead Tent & Trailer Park which has been operated for quite some time by Ross and Marge Lawrence. Business has taken Ross to other parts of the country and the park has now been sold to Jack and Norma Ramsey who took over this past summer. They come from the Orillia area and we certainly welcome them to our business community.

Near Dorset is a unique log building on a beautiful lot which hugs the banks of the Hollow River. It operates as the "Hollow Valley Lodge & Tavern" and has recently been purchased by Kel Stone and Bill Craig who have some very ambitious plans underway. They plan to establish a trailer park, motel and cottage resort which will make full use of the substantial property. Much of the work is now underway and we are sure they would be pleased to see some of their neighbours drop in and say hello.

The Nordic Inn at Dorset is also expanding this year with more accommodation and a lounge to complement their lovely licensed dining room. The Nordic has a unique feature of flood-lit cross country trails for night skiing.

Further north, on Highway 60, on the way into the park, White Birches has now been rebuilt following their disastrous fire just over a year ago and also has new owners. Gerry and Teresa Prenger and their family have cozy cottages and rooms open year round on the shores of Oxtongue Lake and are looking forward to meeting more of their new neighbours.

In Haliburton Village Pyramid T.V., owned by Peter Schellenberg, took over the retail Record and T.V. store in the Mini-Plaza. Peter's brother David is now managing the store and the Outgoing president reviews the year

Describing the past 12 months as "a demanding year", outgoing president of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, John Hogg, told the annual meeting of the organization that he was pleased with the progress which has been made.

He told the gathering of close to 100 at Wig-A-Mog Inn Wednesday that the board he headed during the past two years has been involved in both tourism and economic development for the county. "In the last year we have developed a detailed marketing plan for the county. It is comprehensive and ambitious and it should earn good returns for the effort being put into it," he told the meeting.

Hogg also noted that the board had been working closely with the Central Ontario Tourist Association (COTA) in developing tourism markets. He also pointed out that co-operation with ministry of Industry and Tourism personnel has reaped benefits.

Hogg said he was pleased with the relationship which had developed between the Chamber and the County Council and pointed out that the Economic Development Commission has been undertaking important projects which, he hoped would prove fruitful, several years from now.

Looking at the pessimistic side of the year the outgoing president said he was not totally satisfied with the 1979 promotion effort. "Hopefully we have learned from our mistakes," he told the meeting and suggested that the new board should concentrate on finishing those projects now underway and that a re-assessment of priorities for the board could be valuable.

He challenged the members of the chamber to work together to attract tourists to the region. "With the economy suffering a severe setback, the competition for the tourist dollar is going to be fierce. We are going to have to act together if we want to get our fair share of the market," he commented.

He suggested that the members of the Chamber should let the board members know what their concerns are. "Give them hell" he told the meeting.

Hogg closed by commenting that the Chamber could take a lesson from the efforts of the Carnarvon area group in self promotion. "Let's not take ourselves so serious that we can't enjoy what we are doing," he said.

New board for Chamber

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce has a new Board of Directors. The new board was chosen at the Chamber's annual meeting Wednesday at Wig-A-Mog Inn.

The new board will consist of six new members while the remaining seats will be filled by veteran members.

Returning to the board for another term are Jim McLean of Air Haliburton; Barb Bolin of Sir Sandford Fleming College, Northern Campus; Rhonda Elstone of Elstone Construction; Dave Chatfield a free-lance reporter and media rep; James Orr operator of Sir Sam's Inn; and Keith Stevenson of the Haliburton Highlands Golf Club. The new members on the board include Curtis Eastmure of Maple Sands resort, Maple Lake; Shawn Hagerman, Mutual Life representative; Barry Shaw owner of the Sunny Rock Lodge; Don Blakey owner of Carnarvon Country Mart; Ken Langdon proprietor of Black's Hardware in Haliburton and Dave Willis of the Rockcliffe Hotel, Minden.

Past president John Hogg will also serve on the new board.

18 county residents sought a position on the board of directors. Among those on the ballot were Bill Kulas of Easton's Red & White Minden; Gerald Cox of NorPhoto, Minden; Bill Barber of Browndale in Stanhope; Gary Baumgartner of Locarno-on-the-Lake; Glen Storey of Glen's 10 to 10 store in Wilberforce and Bruce Henry of Halimar resort.

The new board is expected to meet this week to select its officers for the coming year.

Meeting to explore parent involvement

An attempt to establish a group of parents actively interested in the education of their children will be made next Wednesday evening at the Haliburton High School.

According to one of the organizers, Belinda Brown of Carnarvon, it has been almost 20 years since a parent-teacher organization or similar group operated successfully in the county. She said she would like to see if there is enough interest now to sustain such an organization.

Two guest speakers will be addressing the audience Wednesday. Both are involved with new concepts in parent involvement in education.

Mario Godlewski is the vice president of the Toronto Teachers' Federation and will be one of the speakers. The second is Merylie Houston, chairman of the Toronto East Community Council.

An invitation has been extended to all parents in the county to attend the meeting. The program begins at 7:30 p.m.

Lights are needed

Residents along Highway 121, just east of Highway 35, are again pressing their case for case for adequate street lighting along that twisting and treacherous stretch of road that passes in front of their homes. Once again, their efforts appear to have been rebuffed.

Both the Ministry of Transportation and Communications and the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township Council appear reluctant to agree with the stand taken by the residents that the lack of lighting poses a serious hazard, not only to pedestrians who are forced to walk along the shoulder of the road, but to drivers as well.

These residents have a perfect vantage point for assessing the need. Their front windows face one of the most dangerous stretches of main highway in the county.

The MTC has already recognized this fact and posted the area with reduced speed limits and warning signs. The reconstruction effort along 121 should also help to ease some of the dangers along that route.

However, as we have commented in this space in the past, the ministry should consider a major realignment of the highway not just a piecemeal effort at straightening some of the curves. Such a program is bound to pay dividends in safety and driver comfort.

Minden council has agreed to convene a meeting between the residents and representatives of the MTC to discuss the problem. We think both government groups should reassess their stand on the need for lighting in that area. Waiting until reconstruction is completed, some two years down the road, may be too late.

I would appreciate space in your paper to inform your readership of the establishment of "The John G. Diefenbaker Memorial Foundation".

The Foundation was established to retain, for posterity, the tremendous achievements of "The Chief" during a lifetime of dedication to his fellow Canadians.

There will be two major objectives of the foundation. To save, for all Canadians, present and future, his home in Rockcliffe Park, Ottawa, as a museum. That museum will be open to all Canadians who visit their capital. To develop youth-oriented programmes that will be associated with the Diefenbaker Centre in Saskatoon and Ottawa.

Both objectives will require funding. It is the view of the executive of the foundation that we should first appeal for support from the ordinary Canadians of Canada. John Diefenbaker was their champion. He fought their battles throughout his lifetime. His Bill of Rights gave them equality in the Canada of today.

Philip Seto, a young resident of Ottawa wrote the Foundation and made the first donation of $1.00. In his letter he stated, "I am Chinese, and I am a Canadian, born in Ottawa.... the people of Canada should get together and put Mr. Diefenbaker's home in Rockcliffe so that all Canadians across Canada and this world can see the home of this great man and Canadian, the man from Prince Albert that stood for all of Canada...I feel Ottawa and Canada owes it to this man".

If you feel as Philip Seto feels, please send a donation to the foundation. No amount is too small. Let's save his home. Please send your donations, which can be used as a tax deduction, to:

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is an open letter addressed to all concerned parents, grandparents and those people in general interested in the safety and protection of children.

Editor:

In the light of the recent deplorable and tragic crime in Toronto against a nine month old baby, removed from the safety of his own home - sexually assaulted and killed - it is all too apparent that our laws are no longer adequately serving as a deterrent nor are they in any way offering protection to the helpless and the vulnerable - those who cannot speak for themselves.

This child cries out to all of us - to concern ourselves now - to demand from our government, laws that will confine all and any who would threaten helpless children in such heinous criminal way.

It is time that the laws of our country be concerned with the very serious problems of rehabilitation - that abandon to chance the lives of helpless children. It is time to make known to your member of Parliament - your views and concerns in the tragic and all too common situation, when people known to have serious problems - known to the police and to doctors to be possible danger to helpless children, are left free to cause harm and even death to the innocent.

No greater sorrow is possible to a family than to know that their son or daughter has been so abused and mistreated and killed - surely our laws can offer more than they do today to those who cannot defend themselves.

We appeal to all those who desire that these laws be amended and strengthened to bring the much needed safety of our children to the forefront.

Make your feelings known to your MP and if you would like to sign a petition in this regard, contact me at the address below.

Log homes combine traditional design with modern techniques

Interest in log homes in Canada has been growing steadily over the past few years and one local person has attempted to tap that market by combining traditional designs with the precision and speed of modern methods.

Ron Wrightman, known to many as the owner of Ronald Wrightman Realty, Minden, is also president of 1867 Confederation Log Homes of Bobcaygeon. The company manufactures log homes in a 10,000 square foot factory on the edge of that community 40 miles south of here.

The words "log home" and "factory" seem to represent conflicting ideas. One pictures a log home being hand crafted by an army of individuals wielding axes and chain saws. According to Wrightman, that does not have to be the case and he is out to prove his point.

It was just over two years ago that Wrightman realized there was a strong and growing market for log structures in Ontario, and for that matter throughout most of North America. "Through the real estate business I could see that log homes were fast sellers," Wrightman commented. "In fact I was often surprised at some of the prices these old, poorly maintained log houses were attracting. People were obviously eager to pay the price, just as long as the building was made of logs."

In considering the phenomenon, Wrightman saw, what he thought were a number of shortcomings in traditional log design, which he felt he could improve upon. Along with his father, Al Wrightman, who has a background in tool and die making, they set about to design a system to manufacture log homes.

Corner the key

"One of the most important keys to the log structure is the corner," Wrightman pointed out.

After investigating various methods of construction, Wrightman decided that the best log corner joint was the dovetail. "It naturally holds itself in place, sheds water and is the most durable of log corner joints," Wrightman said. He notes that many abandoned log structures are littered across the Ontario country-side. "While the weather may have rotted away the logs, if dovetails were used at the corners, that portion of the building is still standing," he stated.

The key to making snug fitting dovetail joints is precision. If a log nests tightly with the logs above and below the corner will be stronger, there will be little need for filler compound to seal it and it will therefore last longer.

Three cuts are required to form the dovetail and all of them must be made at different angles. With the expertise of his father and his own experience, Wrightman designed a machine to cut the corner in a single pass. The process involves clamping the log tightly and having it advance to meet the three saw blades in succession. After each cut is complete, the angle of the log is shifted before the next cut is started. The process, which takes 55 seconds to complete, is the heart of Wrightman's log home idea. While the concept of a dovetail fitting is one that is available to anyone, the cutting process and machinery has been patented.

Tongue and groove

Another important aspect of log homes is the fit between the logs. As the white pine logs are milled at the factory to their six inch by twelve inch size a triple tongue and groove system is incorporated top and bottom. With this system the logs nest securely and tightly together. A Hypalon rubber is used to seal the joints, but it is applied in such a manner as to leave two air spaces in the centre of the joint. The air spaces enhance the insulating quality at the joint and reduce the conduction of cold through the wall as might be experienced with other forms of caulking. Since the logs fit snugly, there is little need for any large amount of sealant and the Hypalon is barely visible once the log is in place.

Wrightman also developed an interesting method of joining two logs in mid-wall. Close to the butt ends, holes are drilled through the log from top to bottom with the two ends together the cut-out area forms a figure 8. Two blocks of wood, cut to fit lengthwise in the holes are inserted when the building is being erected. Nails are driven between these two blocks, forcing them apart and locking their grip on the ends of the two logs. According to Wrightman, separation of the joined logs is virtually impossible.

Built quickly

One of the most intriguing aspects of the homes Wrightman is producing is the speed with which they can be built. An order placed at the Bobcaygeon factory can be ready to be moved to the site in four days. As the pieces are cut at the factory, the home is Ron Wrightman points to the tight fitting dovetail joint which he feels is an important strength of his factory produced log homes. The entrepreneur hopes to market the log home design across Canada establishing factories in areas where demand is the greatest. His first factory is located in Bobcaygeon.

pre-erected to ensure all components fit properly. After being colour-coded and numbered, the logs are loaded onto a truck and taken to the slab or basement where they are to be erected.

The final construction of the home, which varies with model, can take as little as two days.

The walls come pre-drilled so electrical services can be installed out of sight in the log as the house is erected.

The six inch thick white pine walls have an insulating value of R12. According to studies carried out in Ottawa, a log home will increase its R value as the temperature drops.

When Wrightman first brought his factory produced log homes onto the market, it was with the intention of custom building orders placed by the purchaser. However, he quickly found that it can take up to a year between when a buyer is first interested and an order is finally placed. During that period a great deal of time is spent changing plans, considering options and waiting for the proper drawings to be completed.

While the company will still cut and prepare logs for a custom built home, Wrightman has also developed a series of kits representing a number of styles, designs and sizes. Selecting from a catalogue ensures there will be no waiting.

Wrightman is obviously enthusiastic about the 1867 log home idea. "I think we have incorporated many important features into the home that are lacking in other log designs," Wrightman commented. "The most encouraging reaction we have received to date has been from others in the industry. They are particularly impressed that we have been able to combine the tongue and groove layering with the dovetail corners."

The owner readily admits that log homes aren't for everyone. "There are some people who are just not attracted to the log look or design," he said. However there are also others who may want to live in a log home but who are reluctant to try it. Our designs have all the features found in a conventionally constructed home, but also the special warmth and charm that comes with a log home."

A number of homes have been sold to buyers in Canada and Wrightman is seeking to expand his market into the west. "We will ship a home to any point in North America," he commented. Included in the inventory of buildings he has sold since starting operation in April was one to the Municipality of Wollaston. The township required a new municipal office and decided to have one built in a pioneer style. The 1867 design fitted their needs and the new structure was opened recently in the community of Coe Hill.

A model of one of the designs available through the factory recently opened in Minden and is on display in the Highland Gate Estates, west of Minden.

Christmas mailing dates

Canadian residents should start thinking now about mailing cards and parcels to friends and relatives overseas, to avoid the Christmas rush.

Canada Post has issued its annual "mail early" deadlines, and many of these dates are fast approaching for people who wish to ensure that their mail arrives overseas in plenty of time for Christmas and New Year's festivities.

For example, parcels to Europe, Central and South America, and the West Indies should be in the mail no later than October 17 to take advantage of the less expensive surface parcel rates. Surface parcels to Africa, India, Pakistan, and other Asian countries should be posted by October 10. Air mail parcels to Europe, Central and South America, and the West Indies have a deadline of November 28. The deadline for air mail to African and Asian nations is November 21.

Mailing dates for international air mail letter and greeting cards are December 5 for all destinations except Haiti, the Dutch Antilles and Cuba, which is November 28, and Great Britain and Ireland, December 12.

The deadline for mailing within Canada and to the United States is mid-December.

Greeting cards going overseas by surface or Third Class air mail must be unsealed and marked "printed papers" to meet international requirements. Those to American and Canadian destinations, however, should be sealed. Cards to the U.S.A. must also be marked "printed papers".

Christmas card rates are as follows: Canada and U.S.A. - First Class - 17 cents - Third Class - 15 cents. Overseas - First Class air mail - 35 cents - Third Class air mail - 27 cents - Third Class surface - 18 cents.

Customers are advised to contact their local post office for further details.

The meeting will be held in the council chambers of the municipal building beginning at 7:30 p.m.

According to the organizer of the group, J.O. Jackson, the meeting is being called to elect or appoint an executive for the association and to further discuss taxation and assessment in the municipality.

An invitation has been extended to all ratepayers in the community to attend the gathering.

REPORT FROM PARLIAMENT

by William C. Scott, M.P.

Monday, October 6th, federal Justice Minister Jean Chretien led off the debate in the House of Commons on a government motion, tabled earlier by the Prime Minister, calling upon Her Majesty the Queen and the British Parliament to return the British North America Act to Canada.

In his remarks, Mr. Chretien mentioned the desirability of our being able to amend our own constitution, and he said that that was the purpose of the government motion tabled earlier in the day.

His statement was absolutely false. The plain fact is that the Prime Minister is asking in his motion that the British Parliament approve a list of amendments to our constitution before it is returned to Canada, along with an amending formula imposed on our country unilaterally by the Trudeau government.

I have said many times that we should consider asking Her Majesty and the British Parliament to release us from the necessity of having all amendments to our constitution approved by Westminster, not because there have been any real problems associated with this practice but because I believe that it is time that we assume full responsibility for our own constitution.

Since the Statute of Westminster of 1931, approval of amendments to our constitution have been automatic on the part of the British Parliament, and so I do not accept the Prime Minister's argument that he must act unilaterally, and in all due haste, to bring home our constitution within an arbitrary time limit.

The Right Honourable Joe Clark, as Leader of Her Majesty's Official Opposition, followed Mr. Chretien, and Mr. Clark attacked the government for seeking not only to bring home the Constitution unilaterally, but to seek British approval of sweeping amendments before it is even brought home.

Mr. Clark accused the Prime Minister of seeking, in section 42 of his motion, to destroy the fundamental balance that has always existed between the federal and provincial governments and legislatures.

He said that, on the basis of this resolution, the central government would have the authority to deprive unilaterally the provinces of their powers. Mr. Clark added that a future government, using the powers that Mr. Trudeau parts are wrapped in the flag of patriotism, there are other elements of the motion that could not only change the fundamental nature of our country but could in fact bring an end to confederation.

Mr. Clark emphasized that Parliament has a responsibility to insure that the Canadian people fully understand the basic facts in this resolution, "because", he said, "it is the country of the Canadian people that this resolution proposes to change."

There is a very real danger that the Prime Minister's resolution will set the provinces against the federal government, and province against province. This will undoubtedly contribute to a renewal of separatist sentiment, not only in Quebec but also in the Atlantic Provinces and in the West.

seeks, could in fact sweep away the provinces, destroying the very things that make Canada a federation and in the end destroy Canada.

Mr. Clark said that the motion being debated contains "hidden purposes", and that while some good

Grossman to visit Haliburton

Ontario Minister of Industry and Tourism, Larry Grossman, will be in Haliburton Friday to meet with a select group of area politicians and business people.

The minister will meet with representatives of area municipal councils and members of the Economic Development Committee at the Haliburton Legion. The meeting is by invitation only.

The gathering was arranged by the local Progressive Conservative Association. Grossman will be visiting Lindsay earlier that day and the association has been able to convince the minister to visit the Haliburton area.

According to a spokesman for the association, no specific agenda for the meeting has been established. The spokesman stated he expected the minister and local representatives to "exchange ideas on various topics during the meeting."

A smashing weekend

Another successful day of smashing cars together took place Saturday at the Minden Community Centre.

Despite blustery and cool temperatures, and a deluge that waited until the exciting finals, the crowd was both large and enthusiastic throughout the day. The Kinsmen Demolition Derby had an extra attraction this year as prizes of over $2000 were up for grabs.

The grand prize winner in this year's competition was Laverne Green of Huntsville. He claimed the $1000 top prize and the Brown's Auto Wrecking trophy for having the last car in motion in the ring at the end of the competition.

Second prize, $500, was awarded to Suggett Auto Wreckers of Lindsay with driver B.J. Connelly at the wheel.

Third prize of $300 went to Wayne Greer of Lindsay.

A special consolation award of $65 was given to Mike Baker of Stouffville.

In the ladies' division, Sandra Devins of Lindsay captured the Dixie Lee Cup, $500, and dinner for two at Dixie Lee for her crashing performance.

The action started with 35 entries in the field. Close to 500 spectators were on hand to view the action.

The photographs on this page offer a glimpse of some of the activities Saturday.

REPORT FROM QUEEN'S PARK

By John Eakins, M.P.P.

In the past few months many workers and families in Lindsay have been pondering their future following the announced closing of Armstrong Cork. A great deal of concern has also been expressed by myself and other members here at Queen's Park regarding plant shutdowns and worker layoffs.

During an emergency debate in the Legislature on this subject, the Minister of Labour indicated that he intends to request Cabinet to approve a variety of measures aimed at easing effects of plant closings on laid-off workers. The Minister stated that he considered the province's economic problems to be temporary and maintained that "responsible and affordable" programs are needed rather than sweeping changes. In his view, apparently, the future of the provincial economy is encouraging and the layoff picture is already improving.

A few days earlier, Liberal Leader Stuart Smith held a news conference on the question of plant shutdowns and worker layoffs. He pointed out that almost 95% of all the new layoffs in Canada over the last few months have occurred in Ontario. With the growing pace of plant shutdowns and layoffs, we're seeing more and more the hardship that these are causing for workers, their families, and the communities in which they live. Yet there is no significant provincial legislation which protects workers or communities from these situations or which holds employers sufficiently responsible for creating them, or for alleviating their effects.

We believe that three steps can and should be taken, and are preparing amending legislation to this end.

(1) We must increase the period of notice that a company is required to give its workers before layoffs occur, and there should be a correlation between length of service and the notice given.

(2) We must provide fair levels of severance pay for employees who are laid off.

(3) We must make pensions a right, not a privilege for workers.

Childrens' Aid societies

It was revealed this week that the staff of Childrens' Aid societies from Sudbury to Peel Region are struggling with administrative problems which threaten their service to children. Teams of independent consultants, society workers and provincial government officials set out to investigate Ontario's 51 societies, and have already subjected nine of the agencies to intense scrutiny in the past two years - and sharp criticism, especially in the areas of planning, staff development and record-keeping.

Six other studies, including one of Metro agencies, are under way, and it is anticipated that the review will be completed by 1985.

Of course, this is not the first time that a review of Childrens' Aid societies has resulted in poor reports. In the late 1960's, a task force set up by the Ministry of Community and Social Services concluded that red tape was interfering with the efficiency of the agencies.

All nine of the agencies reviewed to date have implemented at least some of the recommendations made in the investigators' report. Among recommendations were the following: (a) assessment records should detail the services children receive, so that the agency can see clearly the progress which has been made; (b) management training should be provided for front-line workers who have trouble making the transition to administrative jobs; (c) there should be more contact with other community agencies involved with a child in society care.

I would be pleased to hear from any of my constituents about the topics which I raise from week to week.

The OMHA teams will be playing in the Haliburton Bobcaygeon, Beaverton, Fenelon Falls and Minden group this year; not too bad for travelling.

Mr. Ray Goulet is going to do a hockey school for us (ad is elsewhere in this paper). All of the teams should benefit from this training especially when our boys don't get enough ice time before games start on November 1. We hope all of our players will participate.

Our Midget team will play against the Denmark Midgets in Minden on January 6, 1981. This should be a game to see.

Game and practice schedules will be up in the arena for this season, please take note of the times.

November 1st is when we will have our first dance to be called "Season Opener" with Tom Williamson as the disc jockey. Dress is optional (be a goblin if you like) and advance tickets are $10 a couple from the executive and Medleys Pizza. The door prize will be a $50 bill. Hope to see you there.

'Fest a hit

Minden Rotary Club Organizer Gus Kasulke reports that this past weekend's Octoberfest dance at the Minden arena was a success.

"Our attendance was up from last year and we were very pleased with the way the crowd acted throughout the evening. Everything went smoothly," the organizer stated.

He said attendance was over 300, well ahead of the 200-250 at the 1979 event. Those attending received a Rotary beer mug and danced to the country sounds of Northern Lights.

Busy season for shooters

A busy schedule has been planned for the members of the Haliburton County Marksmen Club reports club president Jeff Lodenquai. So far this season the club has sponsored two shoots at the range north of Minden and several more are planned before the snow and cold drive the marksmen inside. The line-up of events for the next month includes:

October 19, 1 p.m.: a turkey shoot open to everyone. Events will include hand guns, rifle and trap shoot. Shooters are requested to bring their own guns and ammunition.

October 26, 1 p.m.: a "sight-in" clinic will be held for all marksmen in the county. This clinic will help hunters get their guns ready for the season. Non-members are welcome to take advantage of this service which will be provided free of charge.

November 1, 1 p.m.: Kinsmen Turkey shoot at the range. All shooters are welcome and the events will include hand gun, rifle and traps.

November 13, 7:30 p.m.: the annual general meeting of the club will be held at the Hyland Crest auditorium. All members are encouraged to attend as the election of officers for the coming year will take place at this time.

Veneer plant opens in Wilberforce

Dignitaries from throughout the county were on hand Wednesday for the official opening of the Wilberforce Veneer and Lumber Company plant in Wilberforce. Over 40 people will be employed at the plant which produces veneer for a variety of products. Over 200 people were on hand for the opening ceremonies at the plant.

Visitors to the opening ceremonies were given a tour of the plant's operation. Two of the workers are seen above sorting the thin slices of veneer fed from the giant lathe seen in the background. To the left is an example of one of the products made from the veneer produced at the plant, a golf club head. The three blocks show the various stages of shaping the finished head after it is formed by pressing numerous layers of veneer together. Wilberforce Veneer and Lumber Company was founded in 1937 and bought by Curvply Wood Products in 1968. Along with Curvply Wood Products, Plydesigns and Nesting Furniture, Wilberforce Veneer forms part of the Orono Group.

Shades of a grade-B western movie: vultures hunched ominously on the skeleton of a long-dead tree, or wheeling mercilessly in the blazing heat waiting for their victim to expire. But vultures abound in more than TV westerns - their range is one of the broadest in North America, including much of the southern half of Ontario. Especially now during their fall migration, the sight of a cluster of wheeling vultures silhouetted against the sky is a regular feature of Ontario bird-watching.

As Peter Reschke points out in the summer issue of Seasons, the turkey vulture is one creature that earns more esteem from a distance. With its wings held high and motionless in a distinctive V-shape, the vulture is a picture of graceful ease as it tilts from side to side in the winds, like a feather falling to earth in exaggerated slow motion. Even the Wright brothers are reported to have spent hours studying this master of the aerial currents in their search for the secret of flight.

But on the ground, awkwardly squabbling over a rotting carcass, turkey vultures are anything but graceful. Their strong hooked beaks and wrinkled red heads, devoid of feathers, are well-suited for their specialized role as scavengers, but one would definitely not be inclined to call vultures pretty. While naturalists debate how vultures find their food - whether by sight or by smell - there is only one reliable way for a human to find a vulture on its nest - by the smell. With the usual litter of two young hidden in a hollow log or rock crevice, only the over-powering smell of well-ripened carrion betrays the presence of a vulture nest.

Nonetheless, this scavenger role is a valuable ecological service, and one which seems to be expanding in Ontario. Turkey vultures are pushing their range northwards and eastwards, into the Ottawa and French River districts. On a good day in October, it is now possible to see upwards of 200 vultures heading southwards at favourite spots such as Hawk Cliff near Port Stanley on Lake Erie. So the next time you see one of these raptors tilting in the wind, don't forget their role as nature's garbagemen, helping to keep Ontario's environment clean.

Lower limit approved

Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council plans to reduce the speed limit on at least two roads in the municipality.

In response to requests from residents along the Twelve Mile Lake Road and the Reynolds Road, the speed limits will be dropped to 40 km per hour. The residents were concerned that the narrow winding roads were dangerous when travelled at high speeds. In many cases the road separates cottage property from the lake and so pedestrians, especially children, are at risk with the higher speed limit.

The power to control speed limits in built up areas of the municipality was recently granted to the township by the province.

While the by-law has not been passed as yet, it is expected it will be enacted before the next summer season arrives.

The wedding of My Ngoc Vuong of Guelph and Minh Dien Phan also of Guelph, but formerly of Minden, took place Saturday. Reverend K. Wilson of Westminster St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Guelph officiated at the 11 a.m. ceremony. A reception followed the service. The bride's sister, Binh Vuong, served as the maid of honour while the groom's brother, Khai Diem Phan of Minden, was the best man. Minh Phan was one of five Vietnamese refugees brought to Minden last November by the Minden Coboconk Refugee Committee. He moved to Guelph earlier this year where he is employed in a furniture stripping plant. Several members of the local committee, including Lorne and Grace Coburn and Jack Brezina attended the ceremony. Also attending was Mrs. Doreen Stinson, formerly of Hall's Lake. Friends and relatives from Haliburton, Toronto, and Guelph were also in attendance at the wedding. The bride and groom met as they were preparing to flee Vietnam. They left their homeland on the same boat and stayed in the same transit camp in Malaysia. The couple maintained contact after being transferred to Canada.

Seniors complex opening Tuesday

The new senior citizen's apartment building in Minden and Haliburton will be officially opened next Tuesday.

The ceremonies will mark an event which has been a reality for a number of months as both buildings have been occupied for that long.

The ribbon cutting at the Minden building will take place at 11 a.m. with the Haliburton ceremonies scheduled for 2 p.m. The Minden structure is located on Bobcaygeon Road North across the street from the site of the new library. The Haliburton complex is on Mountain Street.

Local dignitaries and elected officials are expected to be on hand for the ceremonies. According to Ministry of Housing officials, the provincial government will be represented by Ontario Treasurer, and MPP for Muskoka, Frank Miller.

Letters from Lee

Lee Potter is a local high school student who is spending a year in Mexico as part of the Rotary exchange program. Her involvement in the program is sponsored by the Minden Rotary Club. Lee has agreed to share some of her experiences with our readers through the letters she sends home. The following are excerpts from letters sent shortly after she arrived in Saltillo, Mexico.

My family is great and I feel right at home. Beatrice and her boy friend, and Gustavo met me at the airport. Gustavo is my new brother and has just returned from an exchange in Pennsylvania the same day I arrived. He is very nice and has already shown me all over the city...

On the way home from the airport last night I was given my first taste of drivers in Mexico. Gustavo was forced to stop quickly and another car rammed into the back end of ours...

August 31

I've been in school now for two weeks and I have many new friends. The school is very small with many students of wealthy families attending. It has about 150 students and you get to know everyone very quickly. Everyone speaks English and so I have to ask them to speak Spanish, (so I can learn the language).

Most of the students have attended boarding schools in the U.S., Canada, or Britain.

I was supposed to attend the school called Ateneo. It is a very large public school. However, I decided to switch to this school, the "Techiquito". The big sport here is basketball and I'm on the school team. The only other sport the school participates in is volleyball. We practise every morning at 6:30 and then attend classes. We practise outside since the school does not have a gymnasium. It is a little cool in the mornings, but if you keep moving you stay warm. There are four exchange students staying in Saltillo and all of us attend the Techiquito. There is a boy and girl from the United States and another girl from Canada. She is from the Yukon...

There are few other U.S. students attending my school. A large General Motors plant is being built nearby and the company is paying the tuition of the students whose parents are involved in the construction. They are having a very difficult time as they just learn Spanish and try to pass their year at the same time.

My Spanish is doing well. I can understand much more than I could at first. I try to spend a lot of time studying, but it is difficult when there are so many other things planned for me. I am failing all of my classes, including "Ingles". It is difficult having to do all the work in English and then Spanish.

Everything is going well at my new home. I have three brothers and two sisters. Gustavo is the youngest, he is 17. An older brother, Hector, is studying computer science in Monterrey. He comes home on weekends. Laura is 21 and teaches nursery school during the day and goes to school at night. Beatrice is about 25 years old, Jesus, whose room I am now in, is a doctor who lives away from home.

I work very hard here, since the last servant quit a few days ago. The house is very big and my sisters and I are kept very busy trying to keep it clean and cook the meals. We spend every weekend cleaning and this weekend we had to do an especially good job since mommy is coming home in a few days from university. I've taken a strong dislike to antiques, nick nacks and basket furniture after trying to clean it all the time.

I do my own laundry and believe me you haven't lived until you've done all your clothes on a scrub board. I got blisters at first, but I'm getting good at it now.

The food here is great, hot and spicy, but I like it. I drink the water all the time, straight from the tap and haven't gotten sick yet.

The schedule for meals is much different here. In the morning you get your own breakfast when you want to. Lunch is at about 2:30. It is the big meal of the day and I come home from school for it. (The school is about 15 minutes from the house.) Dinner is served at about 9:00 p.m. I thought the hours were strange, but talking to the other exchange students I have found that is generally their schedule too. Here when someone talks about the afternoon, they mean between 3 p.m. and 9 p.m. After 9 p.m. is referred to as night.

Adios for now.

Reservoir storage declined only slightly to 54.6% on October 6 due to rains in the past week. The ten year average for this date is 45.5%, so about 9% too much remains.

After Thanksgiving weekend the number of stoplogs in most dams will be reduced to the winter setting within a week or so, to allow the lakes to reach their natural level by the end of October.

Construction activities at the bridge on the Irondale Road have proceeded far enough that the flow from the Gelert branch of the Burnt River does not need to be reduced any longer.

The Kawartha lakes rose a few centimetres with the rain after which our flow increase and drier weather are bringing their levels down into the navigation range, not far from the historical average for this time of year.

With the end-of-navigation season next Wednesday, October 15, reconstruction of the guard gate upstream of Kirkfield Liftlock can begin. This gate is used to separate Mitchell Lake from Balsam Lake (all one level for navigation) so that they can be drawn down at different times. This has been found to reduce the likelihood of fish kills on Mitchell Lake.

Man thrown from truck - suffers serious injury

A freak accident on a back road in McClintock Township has sent a Mississauga man to hospital in Toronto with serious injuries.

Howard Barnes, 23, was a passenger in the back of a pick-up truck driven by Linda J. Guthro, 29, of Hamilton. As she drove along the McClintock Dump Road Barnes stood up, apparently because of the rough ride. As he stood, Barnes was thrown from the rear of the truck and suffered major head injuries. He was taken to Huntsville hospital and later transferred by air to Toronto.

The accident occurred October 12.

Investigation is being carried out by Constable Weldon Popp.

$4000 damage

A two car accident on Skyline Drive in Haliburton resulted in close to $4000 damage to the vehicles involved.

A car driven by Joseph Howard Roberts, 21 of Haliburton, was parked at the lookout over Haliburton Village when a second vehicle driven by John Briggs, 18 of R.R. 1 Minden, struck the rear of the parked vehicle.

A passenger in the Briggs vehicle, 20 year old John Robert Smith, received minor injuries in the collision and was taken to Haliburton Hospital for treatment. Two other passengers in the Briggs vehicle, 18 year old Brett Floyd Hie of R.R. 1 Haliburton and Stephen Joseph Elliott, 17, of Wilberforce, were uninjured.

A passenger in the parked vehicle, 20-year old Heather Jane Parish of Oshawa, was not injured.

The Briggs vehicle sustained $2000 damage to the front end while the Roberts car had its right rear roof and windshield damaged.

Police have charged Briggs with careless driving.

The accident was investigated by Constable Bob Pearson of Minden OPP.

Two charges

Charges of failing to remain at the scene of an accident and careless driving have been laid against a Sharon, Ontario man following a single car mishap on Highway 519 north of Haliburton.

According to police, Dale Carey, 23, was travelling north on the highway when he failed to negotiate a curve, lost control of the vehicle, crossed the southbound lane and struck a hydro pole.

The damage to the Carey vehicle was estimated at $1000 while the pole sustained $25 damage.

Constable Dennis Potter is investigating the mishap.

Stumped

A collision with a stump at the side of County Road 12 in McClintock township has earned a Rexdale man a charge of failing to report an accident to the police. The incident occurred at approximately 3 a.m. Saturday morning.

According to police, 20 year old Stephen W. Boru was travelling east on the road when, as he rounded a curve, he lost control of the car, left the roadway and struck the stump. Damage to the car was estimated at $700.

Thanksgiving weekend was busy in the village with crowds around at all the special events.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Mrs. Jack Stewart, Mrs. Jack Schell and Grenville Dart whose funerals were since last week.

At the Minden and District Horticultural Meeting at the Municipal Hall last week, Mr. Brubacher opened the meeting and reported a good flower show but a loss to the treasury being the first one.

Irene Moore introduced Mr. Gomme, Secretary of Ontario Horticultural Societies. He congratulated this society on river flower beds and spoke on the work of 259 branches in Ontario. He also showed booklets and leaflets which these branches can get.

He also told us to dig bulbs the first part of October and transplant all trees, but evergreens which should be done in September. Hill roses up in November. He also showed slides and was thanked by E. Carrell who also presented him with a painting.

A gift was given to Susan Sisson for her new baby.

Lunch and coffee were served after the meeting.

The Cultural and Library Sale on Saturday was very successful as they took in $112.

Sinc Nesbitt was away at Halifax last week at an Exhibition, judging horses.

Winners at the weekly Mini Card Party at the Parish Hall last Thursday afternoon were for cribbage Joyce Hewitt and Vera Ward and for euchre lone hands Shirley Elcome, and others Jeanne Sears and Teresa Cowen.

There was a winner on guessing the buttons at Minden Library and coming closest was Bev Connelly who wrote down 891 and this was just one over the 890 in there. Congrats to her and she won Two Cash For Life tickets.

All her friends send good wishes to Mrs. Warner Casey who had a bad fall and is now at St. Joseph's Hospital Peterborough.

We notice that there are draws for Wintario Toques wherever you get your tickets and draw of names at some of these places had these winners, Brown Owl, Anna Kunkel, Stedmans, Ethel Sinclair, Mae's, George Nesbitt and Mike's Milk, Milt Sears. Don't forget to put your useless tickets in one of the boxes and see if you can win that way.

Lines from Lutterworth by Jean Lacey

Hi! Hope everyone had a Happy Thanksgiving. The weather was great considering down South of us they had snow and North of us had snow. Guess we live right.

Things do change over the years. People used to close up their cottage for the winter, but not anymore as there is as much to do in the winter as in the summer. What with snowmobiling, skiing, ice fishing, etc., there isn't any in-between seasons in sports anymore. Baseball, football and hockey all run into each other. It sure makes a mess of the T.V. season; oh well, I didn't want to watch T.V. anyway.

Mrs. Lil Porter had a wonderful visit with his mother, Mrs. Jean Johnson, from Englehart, Ontario. She stayed just over two weeks. Mrs. Johnson is in her eighties. Also, Mrs. Ann Peaver and Mr. & Mrs. Ed Cote, two of Mrs. Porters' sisters, came for a visit and to take their mother home.

Tom and Elsie Stead brought Aunt Jeverna, (Mrs. Millett), who is 82 and her friend Edith Wild, to see the colours and visit with the Dunsfords. The two ladies came here from Keighley, West Yorkshire, England, and are now on their way home.

Michelle Maher spent the weekend with the Millers

Ajax. Congratulations to him.

Weekend guests at our home included Muriel Ewing and boys of Toronto, the Paul Warburtons of Scarborough and Sandra Sears and Rhonda Cooke of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Johnson and family and Mrs. Fred Wright, all of Scarborough were at the Wright home on the weekend.

Coming event includes the registration for figure skaters at Municipal Hall upstairs on Saturday, October 18 from 12 noon - 2 p.m.

The leaves came down but many with the yellow colour were still there for the weekend and there were sure many people in the area for the weekend. Weather was rainy and cloudy, but Monday was clear and cold. Hope you had a happy holiday. Cheerio until next time.

while her parents were at a wedding in Peterborough.

Jean and Ken Bowron visited with Florence Walker when she was in hospital.

So glad to see that Florence Walker came home on the weekend.

Garry, Sandy, Scott and Lindsey Wilson, Rick and Pam Dunsford were visiting with Annie, Lisa and Frank Dunsford for the Thanksgiving weekend.

Hint of the Week

To remove the ink price marks on bottle and jar lids, when using them for gifts, use a little hair spray and wipe off easily. For ink marks on plastic wrapper use Lysol Spray and then wipe off.

Kids Korner

Here are some spooky riddles for you kids.

What has one horn and doesn't need more, because people run when it comes with a roar?

A truck

What's the hair-iest, scariest thing you could see on your street?

A gorilla

What's even hair-ier & scari-er?

Two gorillas!

Be silent, or speak something worth hearing.

Bye for now. Take it easy. God bless till next time.

Stanhope's memorial cairn to the township pioneers is known to many township residents, yet not so well known to others.

Standing near the roadside on Boshkung Road, a short distance west of Highway 35, the cairn bears a plaque on which are the names of early residents who were buried in the nearby cemetery during the 1800's. While driving recently, on one of those wet days, we drove past the cairn almost missing it entirely (had we been strangers there is little doubt that it would not have been noticed.) Stopping, we returned to the site studied the surroundings and were not too impressed with this effort to honour the memory of those courageous, hard working people. Perhaps it was the rather drizzly overcast day, or perhaps it was the growth of shrubbery, creeping ever closer to the cairn and threatening to hide it altogether, but from somewhere in our minds came the line "— forever lost in the mists of time."

Stanhope residents should make it their concern that this tribute to the pioneer families will always be visible, as well as an inspiration to the future generations.

Another worthy project which is being pursued by Township Clerk Gerald Bain is that of restoration of the log chute at Hawk Lake. If Gerald's search for grants bears fruit, the project will at some time in the future be carried out.

With regard to the election for Township Council, it is difficult to believe that all who are intending to run have declared their wish to be supported at the polls. Of the known candidates, two have frequently attended council meetings as well as participating in township activities. We would assume that anyone not having been visible by now would have only a minimal interest in township affairs, at least as they relate to township government.

At Township Council meeting Wednesday October 10, the last before the election, candidates for election to Council who went to the trouble of showing an interest in municipal affairs, apart from the present members of council, were candidates Ann Barker and Dale MacDonald. Thus it may be assumed, from the interest and participation shown, that no one else will be contesting the council positions. At present no one has indicated any interest in the two top positions other than the present incumbents Elvin Johnson, Harry Davis, Dale MacDonald and Ann Barker.

If others emerge it will be interesting to see how they explain their lack of interest in affairs in the council chamber, and their unwillingness to submit their candidacy to the light of public scrutiny in sufficient time to give the electors a lengthier opportunity to evaluate their usefulness to the township.

For those citizens who have been concerned with the sixty-six foot lakeshore allowance controversy, we can report that the subject came up at Township Council and the Township Clerk read out a letter received from the Ministry of Housing for Ontario.

The gist of the Ministry's letter was that a blanket by-law re allowances would require an accurate description of all the lands affected by the by-law, and that a survey description would be necessary for describing the lands for posting and advertising purposes. As the Ministry says, the amount of shoreline in Stanhope would make the necessary survey work financially prohibitive. The Ministry letter went on to say that the Township should only consider blanket closure of original road allowances when it can be shown that no person will be deprived of an access to a body of water or his or her property.

Recently we mentioned that Bob Davis would be showing his slides acquired during his trip into Canada's far northland. Councillor Harry Davis advises us that the date for the very interesting showing will be November 21 and that the show will be arranged so that there will be an intermission for coffee. We understand that there will be no admission charged, but donations to the Terry Fox fund will be accepted instead of an admission fee. A really worthy effort and typical of young people like Bob Davis.

The hoped for report on the Assessment impact study was not forthcoming at the recent Council meeting due to the fact that it has not been completed by the Assessment Commission for this region. We are looking forward to this report to determine how reliable was the earlier predictions by the representatives of the Assessment Commission that the likely changes would be acceptable. The Council showed their concern by insisting on an impact study before indicating any interest in acceptance of the provincially inspired proposal for equalized assessment. Eventually it will be imposed on the ratepayers, but not by this Council if it imposes any unreasonable hardship on the average ratepayer.
